The Minister of Marine at Copenhagen has given notice that during the present month two fixed white lights will be exhibited at Taxes, at the northwest end of Lauland, on the east side of the great Belt, for the guidance of vessels up to the ferry at that place. The Sardinlan government has given notice that a fixed bright light has been established on Cape Delle Mele, or the western shore of the Gulf of Genoa, in the department of Genoa. Some error respecting the lights in the Gulf of Cagliari having crept into all English charts, the British consul at that port has made known that the fixed light said to be on Fanale does not exist. A new light-house, to carry a first-class light, is now building on Caroli island, off Cape Carbonera; and the government has de creed the erection of another, to show a fourth-class light on Cape St. Elia, which, however, is not yet begun. ENGLISH REVIVAL OF THE SLAVE TRADE IN NEW FORM.

The influence of Exeter Hall is rapidly on the wane in England. The following significant article appears in a late number of the Liverpool Times :

"When the outbreaks in India have been quelled, a quelled they must be, the question will arise what shall we do with the mutineers? The massacres there have we do with the mutineers? The massacres there have been so horrible, and accompanied with atrocties on women and children so revolting to all our notions of warfare, that a terrible punishment is certain to overtake large numbers of the offenders. Public opinion will justify a fearful retribution, and the example which will be made will cause human blood to flow like water. Strong as this feeling is at home, it must be still stronger and fiercer in India, for there even females, maddened at the scenes which they have witnessed and of those of which they have heard, have lost the characteristic softness and clemency of their sex, and become warriors in feeling, if clemency of their sex, and become warriors in feeling, if not in reality. The musket and the gibbet will take ample revenge on the wrong-doers, and the sacrifice of human life cannot fail under the most favorable circumstances to be prodigious. Everything that transpires is calculated to whet the appetite for vengeance, and order will not reign again in Bengal until the wretched natives have felt the strength of England's power.

"But we cannot shoot, hang, or cut down 100,000 men. We may make an example which will be remembered in all future time, but we cannot degrade ourselves to the level of the savages whose horrible atrocities on our countrymen and countrywomen have appalled the nation through its length and breadth. Justice will be vindicated by the destruction of the leaders—of those who are proved to have been more forward than of those who are proved to have been more forward than their followers in the butcheries of which India has been sausy the stoutest suckiers for blood, scores of thousands of offenders will still remain, and the next best punishment would be to deport these men from India foreverto transport them, as we term it here, for the term of their natural lives, to a far distant land, where the remembrance of their crimes would haunt them forever, and where they would be compelled, by enforced labor, to make a fitting atonement for the evil they had committed

"We want labor in the West Indies, and the scarcity of labor compels the planters of the West to send to the East for it—to hire Asiatics as free laborers, and give guarantees that they shall be sent home, if they desire it, at the end of a given number of years. Punish the mutineers by transporting them in thousands during their existence to this part of our possessions. The island of Jamaica and the mainland of British Guiana would abord as mainly as the Indian and the British government could deport within a reasonable time after the suppression of the "revolt. We cannot see what objection can ion of the revolt. We cannot see what objection can

The Springfield (Massachusetts) Argus of Monday states that the Lyman mill, at Holyoke, has commenced running again six days in the week, and eight hours in the day. If there is such an improvement in financial matters as to warrant this movement, it will be likely to affect other mills in a similar way. The relief will be most welcome to the thousands of operators, that are now out fect other mills in a similar way. FINANCES OF MEXICO.

The intelligent Washington correspondent of the Journal of Commerce furnishes the following interesting information in relation to the finances of the city of Mexico, containing some facts, drawn from official sources, in regard to the finances of the republic of

The aggregate amount of revenue from all sources, except the confiscation and sale of church property, for the year ending the 31st of July last was $13,349,534. But of this sum not more than three-fourths went into the coffers of the treasury; about one-fourth of the net revenue, after paying the expenses of collections, is paid to bankers in premiums upon the advance of money for the necessities of the government. For example: the government needs the sum of $75,000 to-day, and one of the government shavers furnishes the coin and takes a receipt, with an order on the custom-house for $100,000. In this manner the revenue from customs and other sources is always anticipated, at the loss of at least one-fourth of the amount.

During the last fiscal year the government confiscated and sold church property to the amount of $24,000,000, but in such a manner that it afforded little relief to the treasury. Only 5 per cent, of the aggregate amount sold is paid to the government. From this source during the last year the sum received was $1,083,611, of which aggregate the sum of $675,305 was received in cash, and the belance in benda and and but the belance in benda and and the helps of debt due by the The aggregate amount of revenue from all sources, ex-

In a financial statement made by the late Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Lerdo, he says that it requires the sum of twenty millions of dollars annually to meet the current expenses of the government, and he states that the annual deficit is not less than nine millions.

Insurrections, conspiracies, and pronunciamientos, all directed against the government, are of frequent occurrence, but are neither extensive nor formidable, and are uniformly put down with little bloodshed and a few arrests. Thus in the emeute at Guadalajara, about the first of August, about a dozen of the insurgents were killed. The conspiracy which was detected in Puebla about the same time, and in which several leading men were concerned, was terminated by the arrest and imprisonment of fifteen of its chiefs.

The experiment of a federal government, in conformity of fifteen of its chiefs.

The experiment of a federal government, in conformity with the new constitution, meets with encouragement from the apathy and indifference both of the State governments and of the popular mass. The federal Congress may not be able to form a quorum within any given time, and if they did, it is questionable whether they would be able to put the theory of the new constitution in practical operation.

General and President Comonfort considers himself, no doubt, as invited by the almost unanimous voice of the people, as expressed at the late election, to take the reins of the government into his own hands—a hopeless and ankless task for him or for any one.

BALTIMORE AS IT IS.

To the Elitor of the Union :

I see that the American press in this city is exceedingly concerned in vindicating the reputation of Baltimore from the exceedingly just strictures contained the other day in your paper. If zeal could supply the place of argument, f passion were logic, or recrimination demonstration, ossibly reason might be on their side. But as the case stands, these papers are forced into the dilemma either, s has been done, of denying the truth of what every body knows, and their own records certify to have oc curred, or admitting the occurrence of such scenes of dis rder, of palliating them by unfairly concealing all their ugly points, or of justifying them by throwing the blame upon the democratic minority. It is obvious that this is erely shifting the argument. When an accusation is made against the city, when the city is said to be the theatre of daily and nightly outrages, to accuse an opposite faction of being the cause of such outrage is surely not disproving the imputation. The fact remains unal tered and unimpeached. The city is to blame—the govrnment, the police of the city. The law-abiding of either party—and the majority is law-abiding—do not or should not approve of any act done in violation of the very first principles of their organization; and certainly to administer the city justly and lawfully, to secure every right of property and every right of person, is a most appropriate and evident function of a government. Thereere, when the party in power fails to make adequate provision for this, it is little in its defence, when its efficiency denied, for it to allege that the infractions of law and order on the part of its adherents are to repel assaults made upon them. There are sins of omission as well as of commission; it is a little less than absurdity to ex-cuse a crime (for bad government is a crime) by the suggestion, proof, or admission of gross negligence and reck sness on the criminal'sside. It is a heinous faultapologizing for another equally helnous. Is this reason? Granting that the democrats are the originators of every riot: this is so much against those democrats who begin and cause these riots, but it is much more against the American party. They have undertaken, and are responsible for, the government of the municipality. If they have falled, what confession of weakness it is to say that their political opponents were the cause of their failure! If there are any disturbers of the peace, let them, democratic or American, be put down. A good government can put down any outbreak; and a petty riot ought to be extinguished before even an alarm in a large city like Baltimore, in a city making such profes sustained by public opinion as Baltimore has been. The truth is that its present municipal authorities lean for support upon organized bands of ruffians. The police nselves are receiving the reward of their righte ness: and if there is an intensity of factional hatred, animosity, and recklessness such as the world has never wit nessed, it is to be found at this day in the city of Baltimore. Better to have murderers, robbers, and burglars whom the law is not ashamed to punish than politica ruffians whom its ministers fawn before and favor. Better stand the chance of being murdered with a possibility of detection and revenge than run the risk of being accidentally a victim to plug-uglyism. No evidence is ever strong and connected enough to convict one of these men; and the mockery of a solemn judicial farce every now and then gone through with familiarizes crime the certain blindness of justice. Well are its eyes here blindfolded; but strike from her hands the meaningless symbols of sword and balance, and send her begging away—the naked and discarded prostitute of politica

I now come to the main point of my communicationand that is to add my individual confirmation to the mass of experience on the subject. I was walking last evening in a seemingly quiet and unfrequented part of the city, when I observed standing at a corner three men. As it was late and I had heard so much of Baltimore ruffiansm, I grasped my cane tightly and prepared myself for the encounter which, as I had feared, immediately ensued. I walked quietly and unconcernedly by them, when one of their number asked me where I was going. I made no answer, and walked on. With a curse, repeated the question; and, seizing me by the arm, shook me violently. Fortunately, he was between me and his ssistants, who were scarcely a yard off; and, shifting the stick which I had in my right hand to my left, struck him with all my force over the head. The blow had its effect in stunning him a little, and I had no diffi. culty now in getting free from his grasp. I then ran up the street crying police, but met not a single person in a sion of the revolt. We cannot see what objection can be urged to the proposal.

"Our philanthro, sits, dreading a revival of the slave trade, will not allow an aportation of free blacks into the trade, will not allow an aportation of free blacks into the West Indies; but here are, nevertheless, criminals guilty of the highest crimes known to villized society, whose lives, by their base and bloody treachers, are forfeited to lives, by their base and lives are lives and use all my efforts to make others shun this hot-bed of villany, outrage, and ruffianism. But for my previous preparedness I should in all probability have been robbed and left senseless in the street. Even curiosity seems to have been extinguished by the dark demon of violence and crime brooding over this dark demon of violence and crime brooding over this crimes and the distance of five squares. I was at first pursued, but the was the matter. If the friends of Baltimore-and I was

The know-nothings have ruled Bristol for three years, and have now been completely whipped. Old Glastenbury, we are glad to learn, has repudiated abolitionism and given a majority of 67 for the democrats, on a well-contested vote of nearly five hundred. In Middletown Mr. Starr, democrat, was elected clerk by 526 votes to 285 for Calef, lowns, adding that "they present thus far an unbroken series of democratic triumphs, and yet achieved without any extra efforts on the part of our friends. These reults indicate, in the most unmistakable manner, he strongly the popular current is running towards democracy, and how fast the fortunes of the pie-bald opposition are ebbing. The 'sober second thought of the people has everywhere, even on the borders of the far Pa approved the verdict given in November last. One more effort, friends! and Connecticut will inevitably be rescued from black-republican misrule."

In Bridgeport the democrats elected P. C. Calhoun mayor and the rest of their ticket over bogus Americans Retended Arrangements for Procuring European News.

New York, Oct. 9.—In consequence of the temporary finiture of the Atlantic telegraph cable, the New York Associated Press have decided to employ a substantial news yacht at Newfoundland for the purpose of boarding, off Cape Race, all the steamers from Liverpool, Southampton, Havre, Bremen, Glasgow, &c., &c.; and in this enterprise—so important to the whole public of the United States and British American provinces—they hope to receive the hearty co-operation of all the owners and commanders of the several steamship lines now established. If the press should be seconded in this arrangement by the commanders of the steamers, there is no reason to doubt but that they will be able to obtain the news from a large majority of the steamers passing within ten or fifteen miles of Cape Race, and by availing a themselves of the New York and Newfoundland telegraph line, which is kept in admirable order, they will be able to spread the European news before the public in about six or eight days from the time it les wes the English abores.

This arrangement will involve very heavy expenditures, but the Associated Press cheerfully assume the burden, not doubting but that the public will properly appreciate their efforts and sacrifices to promote the interests of the commercial public and the pleasure of the general reader.

New Orleans, Oct. 8.—The excessive stringency in the money market has caused a further heavy decline in cotton, the reduction from the highest point being now 3½ cents. The sales the past three days amount to 6,000 bales, including middling at 13. Receipts continue to pour in rapidly, and the indications are that lower figures will be submitted to. All branches of business are more or less affected by the pressure, but the merchants are using their utmost endeavors to brave the storm. Sterling has still further declined, and sales of bankers' bills are made at 97. Money is more in demand, and rates daily hardening. Freights are dull, nominally at ½d.

The farm which I will sell, contains 800 acres of first quality land, lying in the county of Pike, State of Missouri, and a little over a mile from the town of Bewling Green, the county seat of Pike. Upwards of four hundred acres re in a fine state of cultivation; one hundred acres in meadow; sixty acres in wheat; ten acres in orchard of the best selected fruit, now bearing finely, and enclosed by an Osage orange hedge. It is the best watered farm in the neighborhood. The farm is twelve miles from the flourishing and rapidly growing city of Louisians, our market town on the Missispipi river, with a plank road complete to Bowling Green, by which we can take a load of produce in wagons to Louisians, and return the same day.
